~~This is my second attempt with Don DeLillo, the first being last year's The Body Artist, and having read Cosmopolis, I still don't know what all the fuss is about this guy. Maybe it's an "East Coaster" thing, for the guy just doesn't impress me much. He's the kind of author who attempts to use long words, complex run-on sentence, and go off on long and boring tangents which ...~~

DeLillo skates through a day in the life of a brilliant and precocious New Economy billionaire in this monotone 13th novel, a study in big money and affectlessness. As one character remarks, 28-year-old Eric Packer "wants to be one civilization ahead of this one." But on an April day in the year 2000, Eric's fortune and life fall apart.
